

ABSTRACT

Methods and apparatus for facilitating online transactions are disclosed. Preferred embodiments include a web site configured to associate customer and purchase information corresponding to a user and complete an online transaction for items to be purchased when the user clicks on an icon.